Ready to Forgive the Comparative Honesty of the Man who Stole his $1,100.

To the Editor of The Sun.

I have been swindled out of $1,100, and in such a way as to injure my appetite for the next six weeks. The facts are these: I have been a conductor on the Central Railroad of New Jersey for the last six years, and on the first of this month I was so ungrateful to leave my commandation to another, when I knew nothing was the matter but that I started to do it. Mr. Johnson told me it was him; until then he was the conductor, a man that knew I had been a conductor for years. He must have been off for two months, for he took the position the moment he got back, and after relieving me of 60 cents we gave a receipt, and told me that when I presented my card to him he would give me back the money. But I was foolish not to know that the railroad raked in money for speculating purposes, and right when I left home, I was spotted again, but this time the conductor was not so hungry, for he relieved me only 55 cents.

Well, this conductor gave me 55 cents, and on the next day I called at the Company's office to get my $1,100 back.
